CONFEDERATE CURRENCY DERIVED FROM BANKNOTE PLATES

by Douglas B. Ball, ANA 49135
(All rights reserved by the author)

FOR YEARS, collectors have known that many of the vignettes appearing on the Confederate currency from July 25, 1861, to December 2, 1862, were similar to those used in the production of antebellum banknotes. What is not realized is that two Confederate type notes were printed directly from steel plates reengraved for the Treasury's use and that two more steel plates served as the basis for three types of lithographed notes. To understand how and why these banknote plates came into the Confederacy's possession, and how they were used, we must review some odd chapters of Confederate printing history.

A view of the bank note printing department of ABNCo about the time of the Civil War.

The Confederacy's First Financial Crisis

Early in September 1861, most southerners were confident of victory. But the confidence expressed in public was not felt in private by the anxious Treasury officials operating out of what is now the main Richmond Post Office. For probably the first time in history, a government bent on paying its war expenses with paper money felt threatened by bankruptcy because of the printing contractors' inability to fill orders. This problem came to the Treasury's attention in March 1861, when, of necessity, it had placed contracts for the first currency issue in New York. Subsequent efforts to remedy this deficiency by contracting with five local firms all went awry.

One of those firms was the New Orleans branch of the American Bank Note Company (ABNCo.) of New York, otherwise known as "The Association." The Treasury hoped that the branch would provide it with a supply of good engraved treasury notes until such time as the parent company could place at the Confederacy's disposal the personnel, equipment, and materials needed to set up a local bureau of printing and engraving. As we shall see, both of these expectations were fulfilled, but in such a limited way that the Government's finances became seriously embarrassed.

It might be reasonably asked how it was that the Confederate Treasury expected effective assistance from a company based in enemy territory. The answer is necessarily a complex one; it is not made any easier by the fact that ABNCo has never opened its confidential files to public scrutiny. Yet it is possible, from other sources, to piece together enough information to provide the basis for some informed guesses as to the company's actions and motives.

In 1861 "The Association" was the predominant security printing company in the United States. A cross section of 1860 banknotes discloses that the firm had a near monopoly of the southern banks' patronage. With so many billings in the South, ABNCo would prejudice its future if, by taking an intransigent Unionist position, it should alienate its Confederate customers. Moreover, there were several firms like the National Bank Note Company waiting in the wings in the hope of picking up contracts if the company failed to prove flexible and obliging. The Gilded Age's Gadarene stampede after wealth had begun and some firms were "prepared to hazard the navigation of the River Styx in order to make money."¹

Though the American Bank Note Company was obviously interested in making money in both senses of the word, there is an additional hypothesis to explain its continued friendliness to the South. Like other firms in New York, its management included pro-southern elements, who, without regard to the wishes of their partners, were bent on assuring that the Confederacy was given all the help that could be prudently provided. One such individual might have been Tracy Edson, president and former head of the New Orleans branch, who would understandably hesitate to sever connections with old friends. Thus it may well be significant that when in 1863 the company got a contract to print $1 U. S. Notes, Edson retired from office after only three years as president. He was replaced by a colleague, George W. Hatch, an unquestioned Unionist.

In its centennial history published in 1958, the company touched quite gingerly on its relations with the South during the Civil War. The line taken in this official account is that, because it expected the Union to be peaceably dissolved, the New York headquarters initially treated the Confederacy as a "legitimate source" from which orders might be routinely accepted. But, once the President had proclaimed the blockade on April 18, 1861, the firm ceased its Southern dealings. Indeed stress was placed on the point that on May 2, 1861, Tracy Edson made this decision explicit by writing the New Orleans resident manager, Samuel Schmidt, instructing him to desist from any activities in aid of the rebellion.

Clear as this language might seem, Schmidt did not read it as an instruction to shut up shop. Instead he carried on under the nomme de guerre of "Southern Bank Note Company." Finally, on July 4, 1862, some months after Northern forces captured New Orleans, Schmidt emerged from this transparent cover to report a profit for 1861-2 of $17,000 less a provision for "lost" equipment.

Although this persiflage cannot be faulted for factual errors, it tends to create the impression of a more rigid fidelity to the Union than was the case. For example, despite the commencement of hostilities at Charleston, the company continued after April 12, 1861, to complete and ship to Montgomery the books of stock certificates authorized under the Act of February 28, 1861. Its only concession to the war then in progress was to put the imprint of the New Orleans branch (not New York) on the certificates. The New Orleans branch, for its part, completed its orders for the $1000 and $500 coupon bonds of the same act with no imprint whatever.³ Such extraordinary modesty was clearly required. During 1861, the Federal authorities did not waste time worrying if their actions were "chilling to dissent." They were meant to be. Rebel sympathizers were hustled without trial into military prisons under the command of officers who showed equal disdain for both the civil courts and the writ of habeas corpus.

Meanwhile, back at the branch in New Orleans, Samuel Schmidt was not idle. On May 13, 1861, he signed a contract with the Confederate Treasury to deliver the so-called "First Richmond" notes (types 5-6) not later than June 27th, although the last notes were not shipped until August 26th — fully two months late. Under a second contract signed May 24th, Schmidt agreed to furnish three plates of non-interest bearing notes (types 15, 19, 22, and 31). Delivery on the first two plates was five months late while the third plate was never completed.⁴

Despite the assurances of James D. Denegre, president of the Citizen's Bank that Schmidt was hard at work and would soon be finished, these delays resulted in the dispatch of an emissary to New Orleans (July 1861). The agent, William Reyburn, promptly reported that while he had received many promises, he personally felt that little confidence could be placed in them. He proposed, therefore, that Memminger take some work away from Schmidt and give it to another printer. The Secretary applied pressure and, finding that Schmidt still did not respond, confiscated his property as an alien enemy on October 5, 1861.

Why all the delays? In December 1861, Memminger learned from John Douglas, a rival of Schmidt's, what ABNCo has admitted in its centennial history; that Schmidt was neglecting his government work in order to fill orders for the New Orleans banks, including Denegre's. The Secretary's confiscation order probably accounts for the "lost" equipment reported in Schmidt's account of July 1862 and the alacrity with which Schmidt surrendered the Confederate plates in his possession. (They are now deposited with the Smithsonian Institution.)

With Schmidt dragging his feet in New Orleans, Secretary Memminger pressed for the creation of a government banknote engraving firm. To supervise the arrangements, the Secretary selected Thomas A. Ball, a Virginia lawyer, who with the proceeds of a $5,000 Treasury warrant⁵ ran the blockade to New York. There an unnamed high-ranking officer of the American Bank Note Company empowered him to borrow for the Confederacy's use all the New Orleans equipment. ABNCo personnel also assisted Ball by procuring other materials and equipment and introducing him to an Irish-born British national named Edward Keatinge, a master engraver and a long-time employee of the company and its antecedent firms. Returning to Richmond, the two men confirmed their arrangements with Secretary Memminger and then hastened back to New York to gather their materials and recruit among the cooperative ABNCo staff. All arrived safely in Richmond except for some important materials intercepted in Louisville. When Ball attempted to recoup his losses by exerting his authority over Schmidt, he met with nothing but obstructionism. Thus it was not until October 1861 that the firm of Leggett, Keatinge and Ball had enough men, equipment and material to commence work for the Confederacy.

Failing to obtain the anticipated help from ABNCo, the Confederate Treasury took a hasty inventory of the available printers. The roster proved distressingly small. John Douglas of New Orleans had engraved some bonds and competently handled other tasks assigned to him. But he refused to move to Richmond to become managing partner in the government engraving plant so he was dismissed early in 1862. Nor did the Secretary have better luck with the New Orleans lithography firm of J. Manouvrier. Manouvrier was a good worker but his security precautions were woefully inadequate. Packages of his notes were broken into in Petersburg and some bills put into circulation. When the government tried to ascertain how much money was missing from the recovered packages, Manouvrier had to confess he couldn't tell how many notes he had sent. His contracts were cancelled by mid-September.

Against the background of these disappointments, the Confederacy had no option but to rely on a small Richmond lithographic firm known as Hoyer & Ludwig. Taking account of the problems, Ludwig's staff did a competent job on the notes dated July 25, 1861. But this order was not completed until October 26. Thus it was not until November that Ludwig could turn his undivided attention to the notes dated "September 2, 1861." In the meantime, the Treasury was deprived of more than $78 million of its authorized resources.

Such were the headaches of the Treasury, but even they did not exhaust the list. Merely to keep within hailing distance of the Treasury's needs, Ludwig had had to print a disproportionate number of $100 and $50 notes. In the July 25 issue, such notes constituted 58% of the $17 million emitted as compared with the 16% which they represent in our present day currency of $5 and over. This plethora of large denomination notes and the demand for more usable currency led dealers to charge commissions up to 15% to convert big notes into scarce $5 and $10 bills. As a result, Secretary Memminger did not have enough money to pay his bills and what he did have was not suited for small payments.

The Banks Come to the Rescue

The inadequate amount of change bills available and the inability of the government to pay its drafts were quite apparent to the Confederate banking community. Accordingly, on August 31, 1861, the banks of Charleston and Savannah offered to lend their own low denomination notes to the Confederacy at 5% interest, repayable in Treasury notes at such time as they might become available. While declining this offer at first, by mid-October Secretary Memminger had no alternative but to borrow over $10 million in $5, $10 and $20 bills of the Georgia and South Carolina banks.⁶

The Secretary was happier to accept another offer, made at his own suggestion, of steel banknote plates. In a letter of September 5, 1861, C. H. Stevens, cashier of the Planter's and Mechanic's Bank of Charleston enclosed several plates including four from the Bank of Charleston (now the South Carolina National Bank). Two days later, President Richardson of the Farmer's and Mechanic's Bank of Savannah sent three plates

"originally from one of the best engraving establishments in the former United States, and which I hope may be serviceable to you. They were used by our bank when under another name. We still have a considerable circulation of the notes printed from these plates, and I must request that you not permit them to go into other than the most trusty hands until the impression for our bank has been erased."⁷

Origin of the Typenotes Engraved on Steel Plates

As the reader may have surmised, the plates referred to by President Richardson included the $5 and $10 plates for the Mechanic's Savings Bank, the predecessor of the Farmer's and Mechanic's. The pictures and history of these two plates during their connection with the bank have been so thoroughly covered in Dr. H. D. Allen's articles⁸ that little can be added on those topics. It suffices to state that the engravings appropriate to the bank were removed (the vignettes being left intact), and Confederate treasury note verbiage inserted in their stead (see figures 1 and 2).

While the bank had used plates consisting of four notes to the sheet, serial letters A through D, both for the $5 and $10 notes, the Confederates used only those plates bearing serial letter A. These were later revised to "AA" ($5 note) and "A1" ($10 note). Confirmation on this point comes from Thompson Allen, chief clerk of the printing establishments, who reported that Leggett was printing with a two subject plate producing a half sheet worth $15. It might also be added that new tint plates were used probably because the old ones were unavailable (see diagram #1).

The comparatively short run of these notes (20,333 impressions) has been attributed to the portrait of John E. Ward, Mayor of Savannah, which appears on the $10 bill. According to one argument, Ward left Savannah for New York because he opposed secession. An avowed Unionist's portrait was inappropriate for a Confederate note so the issue was curtailed.

This explanation does not stand close examination. Throughout 1860 Ward was in China serving as our commissioner to that country. Returning from his mission in the spring of 1861, Ward, like W. W. Corcoran, the Washington banker and art collector, found himself in an uncomfortable position. He was friendly to the South but he did not think that secession was expedient. He therefore became an expatriot assisting the Confederates from time to time in Europe with such matters as the Erlanger loan.⁹ He returned to the United States after the War and practiced law in New York from 1866 until shortly before his death. The real reasons for shortening this issue probably lay in such technical matters as the increasing wear on the plates, the inefficiency of using a two subject plate and a need to concentrate all available manpower on the task of completing Leggett, Keatinge & Ball's new series of plates.

The Origins of Three Lithographed Notes

The similarity between the illustrated $5 and $10 notes of the Bank of Charleston (figures 3 and 4) and the work done by Ludwig suggests a connection between the two. For instance, the Indian Princess and/or Prince were used on the coupon bonds of the Act of May 16, 1861. The Navigation vignette in the center of the $5 banknote appears on a bond issued under the Act of August 19, 1861, while the Moneta vignette of the $10 banknote reappears on a Ludwig note (see figure 5). Given these similarities, I believe that it is possible to attribute the origins of three lithographed Confederate notes to the two Charleston banknotes. Their history may read like this:

In November 1861, Ludwig was told to print some $5 and $10 notes. As he had already established a uniform format for the September 2, 1861 issue, his sudden abandonment of that format requires investigation. After all, speed was of the essence, and a new format takes time to create, unless, of course, the new plates are at hand. Presuming that the Confederate Treasury Department had given Ludwig these plates, it would be natural for him to try and use them.

Here, however, he was stymied. He was a lithographer and was not equipped to handle the alteration of steel plates. If he was to use the plates, he must print an impression with transfer ink on transfer paper and then transfer the impression on to a master lithograph stone. Ludwig or his staff did just that. On the $5 note, he retained the Indian Princess vignette, the upper left and lower right number medallions and even the slight warp apparent on the upper border in the banknote. The border elements were retained with one change discussed at length in the section on the $10 note. Finally, Confederate verbiage, a river scene, and a counter with "Receivable in payment of all dues except export dues" were used to fill up the note. A four-subject plate was made with letters "Ab," the whole design lying on the left side of what was to be an eight subject plate (see figures 3 and 6).

To occupy the four positions on the right, Ludwig used materials drawn from the $10 banknote. Here he followed a more independent line. The engraver kept the locomotive vignette on the right, the general design of the border and the number medallions. Evidently, it was decided to eliminate the left locomotive vignette, but in his haste, the lithographer forgot to restore the inside left border line which remains broken (see figure 7a, arrow 1). Artistic temperament may have played a role in a second change. As can be seen in a comparison between figures 4 and 7, the original note has fourteen as opposed to thirteen border elements in the Confederate bill. The difference in this note and the Indian Princess note is accounted for by a change effected in all four corners. Whereas the original notes had a rectangular empty space in the corner and then an empty space hollowed out to receive the number medallion, the Confederate notes have a third empty space on the side of the medallion facing the center (see figures 7a and 7b, arrows 2 and 3). Finally, the number medallions themselves are but impressionistic copies of the originals. Evidently the lithographer could not hope to duplicate the bank-notes' machine work and had to settle for fancier numbers (figures 4, 7a and b).

An examination of this note's upper left border shows that the engraver got into trouble by slavishly copying the original. Evidently, it had been planned to use a fourth number medallion in that position. Instead, the "Receivable" counter was inserted. The flat edge of the counter does not fill the depression so that an arch is created over the right side of the counter (see figure 7a, arrow 4). This deficiency was noted either during or immediately after the production of these notes, for when the Type 27 numbered notes (figure 8) were printed, this was corrected by destroying the border and putting the counter flush against the top line (see figure 8a, arrow 6). Other changes in this note include the hatchet-faced figure of Liberty who waves her hand instead of pointing with it; the inner border line on the right side broken about $\frac{1}{4}$ inch above the locomotive vignette; and the absence of a double border line on the left side of that vignette (see figure 8b, arrows 7 and 8).

Now the issue of these notes was extremely brief. The Indian Princess-Liberty-Eagle-Shield Ab notes lasted scarcely 1800 sheets and the revised plate with the numbers A₉ through A₁₆ had a run of less than 200 sheets. What had happened? I believe that both stones had been created directly from transfer paper sheets drawn from the original steel plates. When the stones were damaged, there was no transfer stone or eight subject master stone to go back to. There was, however, a one subject master stone for both types of the $10 note.

The older or arched stone (Master Stone #1) was laid aside for awhile. The newer or revised stone (Master Stone #2) was changed by laying aside the old serial letter "A" for a new one and by the elimination of the Liberty-Eagle-Shield vignette. The last revision was not so difficult as might at first appear since in all probability, it was not part of the master plates to begin with. Examination of this vignette and its successor, the Women with Urn, discloses the use of a separate master stone for this vignette and its individual transfer onto each printing stone. As revised with the new vignette, Ludwig produced all of his type 28 notes.

In April 1862, Paterson bought out Hoyer & Ludwig's Confederate contracts and moved to Columbia, South Carolina. Possibly because Ludwig was still using it to finish his contracts, Paterson did not receive Master Stone #2. On the other hand, he did have Master Stone #1. With ultimately twenty printing stones in use the following pattern emerges:

J. T. PATERSON STONES

This curious distribution raises many questions. Why the exclusive presence of arched notes among the odd numbers? Why the presence of a minority of arched notes among the even numbers? As for the notes with the eliminated arch had Paterson belatedly received Master Stone #2? Or had he for some unknown reason made a revised plate of his own?

My first thought was that Ludwig had finally sent Paterson the second master stone. But further reflection and closer examination of the notes suggested another solution.

Paterson had reached Columbia with Master Stone #1. From it he made an eight subject transfer stone from which he drew five printing stones (see diagram #2). Tardily noting the defective arch, his workmen made a new master stone with the arch eliminated. Proof for this assertion can be found in the fact that the Paterson corrections are done with a heavier hand than Ludwig's (see figure 9, arrow #9; figure 11, arrow #10). They also retain the double line to the left of the train vignette which is typical of Master Stone #1 (see figure 7b, arrow #5 and figure 11, arrow #11).

If the engravers had planned to substitute Master Stone #1A for Master Stone #1, production exigencies forced a change of plan. Too much valuable time would be consumed in making a new transfer stone if only one master stone were used. As a result, the two master stones were bound together with the arched stone on top. Making two impressions at a time, the engravers created a transfer stone consisting of four subjects of each kind alternating by odd and even numbers. Fifteen printing stones came from this plate.

If this study demonstrates anything, it is the correctness of two of Philip H. Chase's basic beliefs:

First, the Bradbeer system of numbering and identifying rarities of various issues, even with modern modifications is inadequate to handle the glorious variety to be found in the Confederacy's engraved and lithographed notes. Some better system is needed before collectors will have a definitive work on this subject.

Second, a thorough knowledge of Confederate Treasury correspondence, Confederate methods of engraving and lithographing (particularly as practiced by Hoyer & Ludwig) and an intensive, time-consuming examination of the Confederate currency itself, are the sine qua non for the intelligent study of the early Confederate issues. Expertise can not be bought for less.

Many coin activities in January and February seem to center in the warm weather states of Florida and California. In January I attended three major shows held in Florida: the Miami International Midwinter Coin Show, the annual Florida United Numismatists state show in Clearwater, and the Greater Daytona Beach Coin Show. Attendance at these shows gave me the opportunity to visit with hundreds of our ANA members who live in Florida as well as hundreds of our members who seek a warmer climate in the winter.

The Annual Miami International Midwinter Coin Convention was a success from every point of view. The efforts of a knowledgeable crew, representing and supported by all area clubs, certainly paid off. An intriguing aspect of this show was its focus on Latin American and other foreign numismatics. Dealers and collectors from many Latin American countries were in attendance, adding to the very pleasant and stimulating atmosphere of the show. However, U. S. coin collecting activities still predominated and it was a pleasure, as always, to hear Mrs. Mary Brooks discuss numismatics on the educational forum from her position as director of the U. S. Mint.

The FUN show, a tradition in the state, brought collectors from all parts of Florida, year-round Floridians, winter-time Floridians, and those who came just for this popular show. At this convention, an outstanding educational program was featured, along with a lively bourse and many interesting and informative displays. The highlight of the show was the Sunday awards breakfast, at which time outgoing president Harper M. Mercer turned the gavel over to incoming president Charles D. Price.

Following these two four-day shows, a week apart, I visited the Greater Daytona Beach Coin Show. This was a local show and it was a pleasure to visit, as I had the opportunity to meet many active collectors in northern Florida. Florida is one of our most active states numismatically and one of the few with over 1,000 individual ANA members. Many collectors and dealers attended all three of these Florida shows.

As a visiting numismatist, I thoroughly enjoyed my Florida travels. The sunny climes of California now beckon, to keep the numismatic scene lively until spring comes to all states.

In January I also attended, as a newly appointed member, a meeting in Washington, D. C., of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, Coins and Medals Advisory Panel. Much important business was transacted with respect to proposed coins and medals for our nation's bicentennial.

While in Washington, I also visited the General Services Administration and reviewed with the personnel their progress toward the distribution of the Carson City Mint silver dollars now stored at West Point, New York. I am pleased to report that they are pursuing an active program which should lead to an early and fair distribution of these eagerly sought Carson City silver dollars.

The price of the 1972 uncirculated coin sets is $3.50 per set and this includes the first class registered mail fee. The government is again limiting the number to five sets that a person can order. As orders are received acknowledgments will be sent as promptly as possible.

If you are not on the government mailing list and do not have an order blank, you may order directly on your own by sending a check or money order to Officer in Charge, U. S. Assay Office, Numismatic Service, 50 Fell Street, San Francisco, Ca. 94102, enclosing the proper remittance.

The Treasury reserves the right to reduce or cancel any order whether or not it has been accepted. The acceptance of orders is conditioned on the mint's ability to meet the demand. In the event of a reduction or cancellation by the mint, appropriate refund will be made. Orders are not subject to cancellation by the purchaser.

numismatic vignettes

• Edgar H. Adams furnished an article on "Large Gold Coin Denominations" for the April 1934 issue of The Coin Collector's Journal. It illustrates and describes the 1851 Augustus Humbert $50 piece and quotes the February 1, 1851, Pacific News of San Francisco as follows: "The larger ones of one and two hundred dollars are exactly similar except that they are proportionately thicker. Those of five hundred and one thousand dollars are in the form of parallelograms, about five inches in length and one and three-quarter inches in breadth, the smaller one being about three-tenths of an inch (thick) and the larger six-tenths."

Notice that this account says the larger coins "are" such and such. However, another California paper on February 21 stated that the larger coins "will be" such and such. Mr. Adams was doubtful that any of the pieces larger than fifty dollars were ever struck.

• From the TNA News: "Many of our members travel a great deal and plans could include a visit to a coin club if they had the proper information." The very first listing was: "Corpus Christi Coin Club, Every Other Tuesday, Conference Room Wilson Tower." Well, you have a fifty-fifty chance to be there the right day.

• "MAKING A MINT" is the caption of an article in the December 20 issue of Newsweek, my favorite source of news. It treats of "a new set of baubles glittering from private mints: commemorative medals;" and considers mainly "The Franklin Mint, creator and main beneficiary of the craze."

Some of the statistics are interesting and revealing. The Franklin Mint has sold some $100 million worth of medals in four years, according to Newsweek, and has orders for another $55 million worth to be delivered through 1976. Some 430,000 customers have bought at least one of its medals, and more than 100,000 currently subscribe to one or more of its series. Franklin Mint claims to have 130,000 members paying $6 a year to belong to its society of medal collectors — "and Segel frequently slips the members a gift fresh out of the mint."

Not exactly laudatory are such phrases in the article as "a host of imitators (of Franklin Mint) hawking their wares," and "a procedure designed to create instant scarcity value," and finally "It's too early to tell if medals are a good investment ... you should wait ten years and then see what the situation is."

That final statement implies, it seems to me, that the subject medals are something entirely new (they are only in their volume and in being mass merchandised) and that there has been no previous experience with medal collecting. On the other hand, if one keeps in mind that collecting medals "for a good investment" has not been prevalent in the past, perhaps the "wait and see" cautionary advice is apt. In the meantime, I'll stay with the older medals which have an aura of aged beauty, historical significance, and individuality about them. — Glenn S.

NEW & RECENT ISSUES

by Ernst Kraus, LM 129

It is the important duty of The Numismatist to record and illustrate new coins. To accomplish this, members in the United States and abroad are invited to submit new issues to Ernst Kraus, Room 939 (include room number in address), 393 Seventh Ave., New York, N. Y. 10001. Coins will be photographed and returned as soon as possible, and a credit line will be given to anyone assisting.

Afars and Issas

Formerly called French Somaliland, Afars and Issas is an overseas territory of France on the East African coast where the Red Sea meets the Gulf of Aden. Unlike other French overseas territories Afar and Issas does not belong to the franc area. It has a freely convertible currency called the Djibouti franc (100 Djibouti francs = .414507 g. of fine gold). This is guaranteed by a deposit of U.S. dollars with the French American Corporation of New York. Prior to the recent devaluation one U.S. dollar equaled 214.39 Djibouti francs.

The basic design is similar to the prior issue for French Somaliland in 1952, but reflects the new name of the territory.

Y-6. 50 francs, 1970. Cupro-nickel. Obverse: Liberty head with cap to left; designer's name R. JOU below; at base the date 1970 between Paris mintmarks; legend around REPUBLIQUE FRANCAISE. Reverse: In the center two camels, one lying down the other standing; value 50 F above; legend around TERRITOIRE FRANCAIS DES AFARS ET DES ISSAS. Diameter 25.3mm. Weight 7 grams. Edge milled.

Y-7. 100 francs, 1970. Cupro-nickel. Obverse and reverse: Similar to preceding except for size and value. Diameter 30mm. Weight 12 grams. Edge milled.

Greece

James J. Padden, ANA 13543, a recent visitor to Greece submitted the following specimen for publication. The obverse design is similar to the issues of 1966-67, but the reverse is similar to the 50 and 100 drachmai of 1967. It appears that the old coat of arms has been abandoned. According to Mr. Padden, the new symbol is displayed everywhere throughout the country. The people go about their business as usual and the only outward sign of the military junta seems to be in the area of price controls.

Y- . 1 drachma, 1971. Cupro-nickel. Obverse: Head of king to left; date 1971 below; Greek legend around, "Konstantin King of the Greeks." Reverse: Phoenix and soldier with rifle; one line of legend below, "21st of April 1967" (date of the military takeover); numeral 1 between ornaments and DRACHMA below; Greek legend around, Kingdom of Greece. Diameter 21mm. Weight 4.2 grams. Edge milled.

Mongolia

Mongolia is an Asian country bordering on the Soviet Union and China. Administratively it is divided into 18 territories or ajmaks. Roughly one-quarter of the population lives in the capital, Ulan-Bator. Numismatist L. Dambiynyam, who lives in the capital city, has reported on the following series struck at the Leningrad Mint and includes one commemorative marking the 50th anniversary of the Mongolian People's Republic 1921-1971.

Following the overthrow of the Manchurian domination a monarchy was established with the Bogdo-Gegen as ruler of the country. Independence was declared in 1921. After the Bogdo-Gegen's death in 1924, the monarchy ceased and a republic, patterned after the Soviet system was declared. Later that same year and in early 1925 a monetary reform was carried out and a new national currency, the tugrik was created. The first emission was done by the Mongolian National Bank in 1925.

Y- . 1 mongo, 1970. Aluminum. Obverse: Arms above the abbreviated name of the country, "The Mongolian People's Republic," in Russian characters, the date 1970 below. Reverse: Value, "1 / Mongo," again in Russian script, half enclosed by ornamental ribbons that emanate from a flower below. Diameter 17.5mm. Weight .75 grams. Edge plain.

Y- . 2 mongo, 1970. Aluminum. Obverse and reverse: Similar to preceding except for size, weight and value. Diameter 20mm. Weight 1 gram. Edge plain.

Y- . 5 mongo, 1970. Aluminum. Obverse and reverse: Similar to preceding except for size, weight and value. Diameter 23mm. Weight 1.6 grams. Edge plain.

Also reported have been 10, 15, 20 and 50 mongos, all in cupro-nickel and a 1 tugrik in aluminum-bronze, dated 1971, and commemorating the 50th anniversary of the republic.

Poland

Preparations for the observance of the 50th anniversary of the rejoining of the Silesian territory to Poland began in 1967 with the unveiling of the monument to the Silesian Insurgents in Katowice in July 1967. The observance climaxed with the issuance of a commemorative 10 zlotych coin. Both honor the fighters who struggled for the return of Silesia from Germany during three successive insurrections in the years 1919, 1920 and 1921.

Tanzania

The Republic of Tanzania was formed by the unification of the previously separate countries of Tanganyika and Zanzibar in 1964. Tanganyika had become an independent member of the British Commonwealth in 1961 and a republic under the presidency of Dr. Julius Nyerere in 1962. Zanzibar became independent as a constitutional monarchy within the Commonwealth in 1963. Thirty days later a revolutionary government seized power and the Sultan of Zanzibar left the country, which was declared a republic. To mark the 10th anniversary of Tanzania's independence, or at least that for the Tanganyika portion, a commemorative issue has been released. Reports from the country are that a coin of similar design, but dated 1972, will be issued shortly in cooperation with the coin plan of FAO.

The Gambia

The Gambia, which sits astride one of Africa's most superb waterways, is a small country. A narrow piece of territory, it hugs the giant river of the same name as it winds and twists its way through 300 miles of Gambia countryside, but never more than a score of miles from the river bank in width. What it lacks in size, it more than makes up for in warmth—which not only comes from its guaranteed annual sunshine (it has what is reckoned to be the best all-round climate in West Africa) but also stems in large measure from its traditionally friendly and laughter-loving people. With this natural resource, the country aims to become a tourist mecca. Joining most other Commonwealth nations in a change to decimal coins, The Gambia has just released the third in the new series.

LIBRARY REPORT

Vogt Donation Makes Popular Mexican Reference Available from Library

Richard A. Long, curator of the Museum of the American Numismatic Association and noted authority on Mexican coins, describes Dr. George W. Vogt's revision of "Colonial Mexico 1536-1821 and The Empire of Iturbide 1821-1823," as the most widely used and one of the most popular references on the colonial coins of Mexico.

Vogt's book, a revision of an earlier work by Neil S. Utberg, is an illustrated catalogue of the numismatic history of Mexico. It is an extremely valuable aid to both the novice and advanced collector serving as a guide around which one can form a collection and an indication of the value of these coins.

Although a very limited edition, Dr. Vogt has donated 100 numbered copies of this book to the Library of the ANA, with the stipulation that the proceeds be used for library work. Published by Colonial Coins of Houston, Texas, the book is fully illustrated, hard bound, and contains 100 pages. Original retail cost was $10 each, but members of ANA, through this announcement, may obtain copies for their personal libraries at $7.50 each, from the Librarian, American Numismatic Association,

P. O. Box 2366, Colorado Springs, Colo. 80901.

Library Reminders

May we request that those of you who borrow books from the library remember, when returning these volumes, to enclose your postage in the invoice envelope provided for this purpose. Empty envelopes mean that we must use valuable time and postage to bill you for mailing charges.

It is also required by ANA regulations that books must be insured when mailed back to us. The amount of insurance necessary to cover possible loss of books is noted on the postage envelope. Please use this insurance figure along with your "book rate" postage.

Books should be wrapped separately before placing them in cartons or packages. This gives added protection against rough handling and moisture.

We are always happy to help you with your research in any way that we can. A self-addressed stamped envelope is helpful when your questions require a letter answer.

We appreciate the tremendous response we have received from our appeal for donations to the library fund. Your generosity should make 1972 a progressive and expansive year for the library. — Geneva Karlson, Librarian

BOOK REVIEWS

Learning, like money, may be of so base a coin as to be utterly void of use; or, if sterling, may require good management to make it serve the purposes of sense and happiness. — Shenstone.

Much Enlarged and Improved

COINS OF THE WORLD 1750-1850 by William D. Craig. 2nd edition, 1971. 448 pp. Illus. Hard cover of simulated leather. Whitman Division, Western Publishing Co., Racine, Wis. 53404. $10.00.

Many revisions of catalog-type numismatic books are little more than reprints with updating of contents and prices, but this book is definitely an exception. It is better labeled as a new book which uses information previously published and subsequently criticized, corrected and augmented by collectors and students, many of them experts in the subject matter.

At the first glance one sees the changed format: 7½ by 10 inch pages with three columns each resulting in nearly a third more printed area even with about 300 fewer pages. The former two section division of countries has been replaced with straight alphabetic listing from Afghanistan to Vieque.

There is a more helpful introduction and, of great convenience, condition heading of prices at each coin or group of coins. Retail price estimates have been brought up to date, of course, from those of five years ago and are related to the conditions generally available of the various coins.

Summary information in concise form about the country and its monetary system is given under each country heading, and the names and dates of rulers are shown for most coinages. Coins under each issuing country or state are listed chronologically and grouped by metals, each coin being assigned a catalog number for reference. Most types are illustrated by photographs or, in a few cases, by line drawings.

There are a number of important tables, such as counterstamps, monograms, mint names and symbols, dates of eras, definitions of coats of arms terms and devices, and reading and converting dates of various calendars to the Gregorian. Finally, there is a comprehensive index which lists countries by their common English names and also by their local or obsolete names.

The first edition was a sell-out, reports the publisher, and this second edition deserves even greater popularity. To quote author-compiler William D. Craig, "Both collector and researcher will find this edition a handy and invaluable source of historical as well as numismatic information." In this reviewer's opinion, that is a modest and factual statement.

This important book is available from most coin dealers as well as from some of the larger book stores at $10.00. It may be ordered direct from the publisher, Department M, Western Publishing Co., 1220 Mound Ave., Racine, Wis. 53404. However, the postpaid price from Western is $11.00. — Glenn S.

America's First

THE CAROLINA GOLD RUSH by Bruce Roberts, 1971. 80 pp. Illus. Hard cover. McNally and Loftin, Publishers, 510 West Fourth St., Charlotte, N. C. 28202.

Contrary to what many people think, California and Alaska are not the only areas, nor the first, in the United States to have experienced a "gold rush" in the 19th century. The first substantiated record of a gold find, which touched off the first gold rush in America, was the discovery of a seventeen pound nugget in Cabarrus County, North Carolina, in 1799 by Conrad Reed. He was the son of a farmer, John Reed.

Not realizing that the rock had any value, the family used this seventeen pound hunk of almost pure gold as a pretty yellow doorstep for three years and then sold it to a jeweler in Fayetteville, North Carolina, for $3.50 in 1802! Soon John Reed learned the bitter truth of the swindle and the sweet truth that there was a vast quantity of gold remaining on his property.

Other gold deposits were rapidly found in Cabarrus and surrounding counties as the word spread over the country. Gold was panned from streams, dug from placer deposits and from shaft mines over the western and central counties of the Tar Heel State. The first domestic gold to be deposited in the United States Mint was taken from North Carolina soil. All domestic gold coined by the United States from 1804 to 1828 came from North Carolina.

The word spread to Europe and they came to the Piedmont area of the state by the thousands. Three of these were Christopher Bechtler, son August, and nephew Christopher, Jr. who came from Germany. By their hands another numismatic first was achieved in Tarheelia. In 1832 Christopher Bechtler minted in his shop near Rutherfordton, North Carolina, the first gold dollar ever made in America. It is only coincidence, of course, that the man who started the gold rush was also a German. John Reed was loaned to England with a regiment of Germans to help in their fight against the Colonists. He and many of his friends deserted.

Most of this information and much more can be found in a delightful book, long overdue, The Carolina Gold Rush, by Bruce Roberts. McNally and Loftin of Charlotte, North Carolina, is the publisher, and the book came off the press this year. It is loaded with a rare collection of photographs, sketches, and maps. — M. It provides a complete regimental record of all officers of the British Army who fought at Waterloo. 20,000 COAL COMPANY STORES by Gordon Dodrill, 1971. 287 pp. Soft cover. 750 illustrations. Gordon Dodrill, 441 Smithfield Street, Pittsburgh, Pa. 15222.

The author calls it, "A labor of love." It would have to be for it took him over five years and some 20,000 (3x5) cards to gather his information. It is an alphabetical compendium of the company stores of the coal industry from 1903 until 1958, five years after the coal industry banned the use of scrip.

Working from the Library of Congress and the only known early volumes of the Keystone Coal Field Directory, the author compiled his information of index cards which then had to be collated in precise alphabetical form for typing. Then the cards were regrouped by states and then by county. Covering the United States, Canada and Mexico, not only are all known store tokens listed, but so are the dates of the start and end of each mine and associated company store, even to the average number of employees. Length of operating and number of employees gives an idea of token rarity and all 20,000 listings are priced. — Wow!! — PR.

Century Old Notes

Half dollars of the old standard, previous to 1837, of average wear, were found to have lost five and a quarter of one percent. A recoinage at the Philadelphia mint of $38,000, produced $37,800. — American Journal of Numismatics, July 1872.

ANA president John Jay Pittman, left, accepts a mammoth-sized check from Chester L. Krause, publisher of Numismatic News, to start an equally ambitious youth program.

Fund Established to Further ANA Junior Collector Activities

The promise of a brighter future for the junior coin collector may turn to reality as the result of an initiative taken by publisher Chester L. Krause during an educational forum appearance at the 17th annual Florida United Numismatists convention held in Clearwater. His topic of discussion was youth and how it can best be served by the senior collector.

In his remarks, Krause observed that what the young collector needs more than anything else is encouragement, particularly the encouragement provided by effective communications. He pointed out that at the present time young collectors are largely obligated to learn from books and publications which are edited for adult consumption, while their collecting habits and interests fall at a much different level.

As one of the vital areas of communications is the printed word—communications also includes the presentation of junior activities, providing them with transportation to and from club meetings and shows, and inviting them to view your collection or providing them with an old coin or catalog which is still usable—Krause offered a donation in the amount of $400 to cover the cost of publishing an issue of the American Numismatic Association's Young Numismatist, and at the same time establish a Young Collectors Program Fund.

Following the acceptance of the donation by ANA president John Jay Pittman, Krause stated, "We hope that the ground we are breaking here today will lead to the growth of a full service wing of the ANA dedicated to the interests of the junior collector. We sincerely believe that it is the responsibility of every collector to rally to this call."

Mustafa Kemal Atatürk

by Mike Kinison, ANA J-65758

Kemal Atatürk was born in Salonika, Turkey and educated at a military college in Constantinople (Istanbul). When he was born he had no surname, but was later called Kemal, meaning "perfection," because of his excellence in mathematics.

He fought with the "Young Turks," Nationalist revolutionaries, who had risen successfully against the sultan in 1908. The Young Turks wanted the modern industrial achievements of the west, a representative form of government, and mostly, they wanted the Turks to be admired, respected, and feared as members of a modern nation.

In 1911 and 1912 he served in the Turko-Italian War. He became chief of staff in 1913, during the Balkan War, and from 1913 to 1914 he was military attaché at Bulgaria. During World War I he was a commander at Gallipoli in 1915, in the Caucasus from 1916 to 1917, and in Palestine in 1918. Though Turkey was on the losing side of the war, he earned a medal of honor for his valiant effort during the war.

Turkey was subjected to harsh peace terms—mainly because Turkey was being occupied by their hated-throughout-history neighbor, Greece. Kemal tried to rally national resistance to these harsh terms, but was immediately exiled by the sultan to Anatolia, where he set up a rival government in 1920 and was elected president. He soon defeated the Greek army of occupation. For his decisive victory against the Greeks at the battle of Sakarya River in 1921, he received the official designation of Ghazi, meaning "victorious." With this action, the Allies were finally obliged to conclude the Treaty of Lausanne in 1923. The new peace treaty transferred the Smyra area and eastern Thrace from Greek to Turkish control. These areas comprise, mostly, the part of Turkey that is in Europe.

The same year the sultan was deposed, and Kemal was unanimously elected president of the republic. He was reelected in 1927, 1931, and 1935. The same year the old Ottoman Empire was officially abolished, and in its place stepped the Republic of Turkey. Kemal then moved the capital from cosmopolitan Istanbul, now on the western edge of the republic, to Ankara, in the heart of Asia Minor.

Kemal also imposed rapid, wholesale, and sometimes ruthless measures of westernization. Women received the right to vote and were emancipated from traditional Moslem traits. The whole fabric of social and political life was largely removed from the highly conservative influence of Islam. An advanced European law code was introduced; Sunday, not the Moslem Friday, was made the weekly day of rest. Even the Turkish language was revolutionized and written for the first time in western letters—a move of major importance since only a fraction of the Turkish people had ever been able to master the old Ottoman Turkish.

All Turks were now required to take surnames in the western manner, and Kemal himself took that of Atatürk, "Father of the Turks." He further promoted industrialization, and fearing the foreign political domination which accompanies foreign capital investments, he sought to finance commerce and industry through the use of Turkish national funds and heavy taxation. Thus, industry was mainly state-controlled. In foreign policy, Kemal Atatürk maintained friendly relations with Russia, and concluded treaties of friendship with Hungary and Greece.

He had indeed westernized his country and he had insured its independence of the west as Turkish neutrality during World War II was soon to prove.

Turkish coinage is based on the decimal system—100 kuruş equals 1 lira. Kemal Atatürk appears on a 100, 50, 25, and a 10 kuruş coin. He also appears on three 1 lira coins, two 2½ lira coins, and a 10 and 25 lira coin.

The 100 kuruş coin shows Atatürk on the obverse with Turkey written across the top. The reverse has the date, 1934, and the denomination in the foreground, and the national emblem, crescent and star in the background. The coin is made of silver.

The 25 and 50 kuruş coins are the same except for the denomination. The obverses show Atatürk with lettering, saying, "REPUBLIC OF TUR-KEY" around his bust. The reverse has the denomination and a wheat stalk. These coins are of silver and were minted from 1935 to 1937.

The first variety of the 1 lira coin has the same obverse of the previous two coins. The reverse has the national emblem, two wheat stalks, the denomination, and the date. This coin was minted from 1937 to 1939 in silver.

The other two varieties of the 1 lira coin are the same except one is minted in copper-nickel and the other is minted in stainless steel. Again, the obverses are basically the same as the previous three coins. The reverse shows two ornaments consisting of wheat and daphne branches. Between the two at the top, there is the crescent and star. The coins weigh 8 grams (post-1968 the 1 lira coin weighs 7 grams), and have a diameter of 27mm.

The first 2½ lira coin weighs 9 grams, the diameter is 30mm, and the obverse is an engraved photograph of Atatürk depicting him thinking as he walked on the battlefield on August 26, 1922, during the War of Independence. The words around the rim read "REPUBLIC OF TURKEY." The reverse is the same as the 1 lira coin.

The second variety of the 2½ lira coin has the same reverse as the other 2½ lira coin, but the obverse depicts Atatürk on a tractor. The legend around the bottom means "The Plow is Superior to the Sword." FAO appears along the edge.

The 10 kuruş coin, another FAO issue, has the same obverse as that of the 2½ lira coin. The coin is 21mm in diameter and weighs 3.5

grams. It is struck in bronze. The reverse has the denomination, 10 kurus, beside a stalk of wheat.

A commemorative was issued in 1960, commemorating the overthrow of the Menderes government by the armed forces of the country on May 27, 1960. The obverse shows Ataturk; the reverse shows the emblems of the revolution. The coin was struck in silver.

The last coin is a 25 lira coin that weighs 15 grams and has a diameter of 32mm. The obverse, again, shows the bust of Ataturk and the words "REPUBLIC OF TURKEY." The reverse shows, in the center, the first building of the Grand National Assembly. The motto reads: Domination belongs to the Nation." The lower legend marks the Grand National Assembly's 50th Anniversary. The coin is minted in .830 silver.

its editorial excellence. He had also served as curator of the 1915 Collection of the Pacific Coast Numismatic Society.

A. I. Martin
ANA 31357

His long battle with emphysema ended with the death of A. I. Martin of Houston on December 26. He had entered the Houston Methodist Hospital only four days earlier.

The tall Texan, nearing his 74th birthday, was born in Missouri but had lived most of his life in Houston. He was prominent in the steel erection and fabrication business, one of his projects having been the erection of steel for the Shamrock Hilton Hotel where the 1965 ANA convention was held. He introduced welded steel construction in the Houston area and was the first firm to advertise such in the classified telephone directory there. He sold his business in the mid-1950s to devote full time to his hobbies—numismatics and breeding Angus cattle.

"A.I.," as he was known to his very many numismatic friends, became a member of the ANA in 1958. He was a charter member of Texas Numismatic Association and served as its second president from 1961 to 1963. He was a professional numismatist until failing health forced him to give it up and sell his stock, but he still retained membership in the Society of Certified Professional Numismatists at death. Many ANA members will remember him best as the composed general chairman of the 1965 convention held in "his" Houston Shamrock Hilton Hotel.

President Johnson appointed Mr. Martin to the 1966 annual Assay Commission. He was a member of the ANA building fund committee and, together with his wife Doris, contributed more than enough to that project to become "Patrons."

Martin's contributions to numismatics can hardly be recounted without mentioning Doris who worked so closely with him. During his presidency of TNA, she was editor of its News and developed it from just a mimeographed sheet to a multi-page printed publication. Her close cooperation with him in planning and staging the ANA convention won a Medal of Merit for her.

In addition to Doris and their multitude of friends, Mr. Martin's death is mourned by their daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Ryan of California, and three grandchildren. — GBS.

The Cowrie — From Currency to Valued Fetish

A carved wood judgment dance mask with animal teeth and halo of cowrie shells intrigues World Heritage Museum model Vicki Miller. Prized by the Gio people of the Ivory Coast, West Africa, the mask is part of a collection acquired on a recent African trip by the museum director, O. H. Dodson, a past president of the ANA.

The World Heritage Museum on the Urbana-Champaign campus of the University of Illinois exhibits a notable collection of rare material from the ancient and medieval world. Under Dodson's supervision, the museum is expanding its holdings to include contemporary cultures. Recent acquisitions include primitive forms of money from remote parts of the world.

The cowrie shell, the earliest form of primitive currency, is still widely valued in Africa as a fetish and serves to enhance the Gio mask.

FEATURING FAKES

DO YOU HAVE THE ORIGINAL?

Paper money is something about which I know absolutely nothing.

The note (reduced in size) pictured at the top of these pages is, I'm told, a counterfeit. It once was explained to me by Nashville's Tye Buxton how you could detect that it's a counterfeit, but I've forgotten exactly how. 'Twas something about the seal of the fake having been printed either before or after the black ink portion (I can't recall which), whereas the genuine seal was printed in the opposite sequence.

This bill today is shown somewhat as an answer to the oft-asked question as to whether or not ANA's Certification Service (ANACS) will authenticate paper money. The ANACS committee recognizes that, as soon as possible after the coin-authenticating service is launched, the same service must be furnished to the rag-pickers, for they also contributed to ANAT's drive for the operating funds.

And at the bottom of these two pages you see two 0.900 fine silver, die-struck counterfeits of two Swiss pieces... an 1812 four franken of Argau Canton (Davenport 361) manufactured in 1971, and an 1835 forty batzen of Republic of Bern (Davenport 370), also made in 1971. Whether or not an American expatriate is behind this unwelcome group of copies, I don't know.

Now, let me get to a touchy topic on which I feel very strongly.

The "Typhoid Mary" of Numismatics

The Geritol Set will remember hearing of "Typhoid Mary" who lived in an eastern city around the turn of this century.

"Typhoid Mary" was an honest, hard-working woman who was employed by various households as a cook, and a good cook she was. Yet, in each home for which she cooked, typhoid fever hit that family. Mary was a carrier of the typhoid fever germ.

To protect the rest of the citizenry, the state reluctantly had to keep "Typhoid Mary" in isolated confinement all the rest of her days.

The "Typhoid Mary" of numismatics is the scrupulously fair, honest coin-dealer who just hasn't learned how to detect an altered or a counterfeit coin, or hasn't learned the difference between "Brilliant Uncirculated" and "Buffed Up" and thus, in all innocence but ignorance, repeatedly sells such fraudulent pieces to trusting collectors who are uninformed as is he.

True it is that, if the collector is lucky enough to learn that he's been sold a phony coin, "Typhoid Mary" cheerfully and honestly apologetically will refund the collector's cash.

But what of the many collectors who won't learn they now have phonies in their collections until several years later, and "Typhoid Mary" then may not be around to refund the cash?

A man is just as dead, whether the bullet was triggered through carelessness or "on purpose."

So, reluctantly but in fairness to the some 25,000 other ANA members, I would vote to suspend or even to expel the "Typhoid Mary" of numismatics.

The truth is that the collector has been taught that he trustingly can patronize any coin-dealer who is an ANA member.

Ergo, I feel that, unless ANA protects its members by purging its membership rolls of the "Typhoid Mary" of numismatics, ANA is falling short of its obligations to its members.

Readers, I invite your thoughts, your comments!

Donations Continue — And How!

If the following ten pages of donor listings, received in the last thirty days, staggers your imagination, you can well appreciate what it has done to office routine. The answer to the appeal for support of the association that accompanied 1972 dues notices was overwhelming. In addition to the totals shown at the close of this month's list noting over $56,000 given to the museum, $14,000 to the library, and an additional $5,000 to the authentication service, various amounts were designated to funds for Young Numismatists, Reward, and Gifts and Endowment programs.

A bandwagon of help and support is now rolling for the association, and even though the list of donors is growing by the hour, there's room for many more names. If your name has not been listed in the past few months, we'll reserve room for it in the next issue. — ECR.

CENTURY OLD NOTES

All classes of United States coins, excepting, perhaps pattern pieces, have advanced this year at least twenty-five percent over former prices. Rare dates are seldom met with. The 1799 and 1804 issues seem to have been absorbed, and it is difficult to meet with them, in fine condition, except at public sales. — Mason's Coin Collector Magazine, 1872.

Y'all Come To New Orleans

By James H. Cohen, General Chairman

81st Anniversary Convention, Aug. 15-19, 1972

As general chairman of the 81st anniversary convention, I would like to take this opportunity to personally invite each and every one of you to what we believe will be a truly wonderful convention. In order to give you a little preview of the city, let's go on a mythical trip and see what happens. Transportation getting here is definitely no problem, as you can fly or drive in with no difficulty. In fact, I understand that the train between New Orleans and Chicago is pretty good once again.

For the driver coming in through Houston, I'd suggest stopping at Lafayette, Louisiana, and trying the crawfish at Don's Seafood Restaurant. He has an entire crawfish meal that is hard to beat. After eating, you could take the scenic route through the south of Louisiana, getting into New Orleans via Houma on U. S. 90. Should you be arriving from the east of the city, a ride on the Gulf Coast is forthcoming.

Upon your arrival at the Jung Hotel, I'll urge you to please check your coins into security before you do anything else. By so doing, you will be helping our security people to help protect you.

Now with your goodies out of the way, let's relax. While not a big drinker myself, I have been known to take a short one once the sun has crossed the yardarm. Today let's go to the Top of the Mart for a mint julep. We can sit high above Canal Street and the Mississippi River for a one hour ride around the mart. A special revolving section of the floor makes a 360 degree circle in exactly one hour. This is done with a small motor and gears, so smoothly you do not realize that you are moving. The panoramic view of the city is just beautiful, particularly if you catch it at sunset. After your visit here, it will be easy for you to understand why we are known as the Crescent City.

Having a bit of refreshment under our belts, it is now "chow time." Since eating is one of my favorite hobbies, I can tell you plenty about our local restaurants. Since you have already heard of Antoine's and Breakfast at Brennan's, we'll add a few other names to your list that hopefully will make up an acceptable Fielding's Gourmet Guide.

Personally, I like Galatoire's, in the 200 block of Bourbon Street, but hesitate to suggest same as they do not take reservations. Jimmy Moran's, next door to the Playboy Club, is real nice if you want the closest thing New Orleans can offer to a Roman meal. They will be open later than most restaurants in town and do make reservations. A one-drink-at-the-bar routine is standard here, but if you are not in a rush, I'm sure that it is acceptable.

Tortorici's Restaurant on the corner of Royal and St. Louis is another very nice place to eat. They have a few sidewalk tables if you would prefer to dine elsewhere but just want an aperitif with Tony and Joe. Since the French Quarter is literally loaded with good places to eat, I'll mention that the Hotels Royal Sonesta and Royal Orleans offer gourmet meals in The Rib Room and Madam Begue's. The oyster bar at the Sonesta is also very nice.

My wife and I have walked the Quarter on occasions, eating a bit here and there, as we are offered a goodie at some of the open wall type of cafes that sell their wares in a rather unusual setting.

While mentioning food, let's get in a car and try a meal or two away from the commercial area. Way out of town (10 miles or so) is located Mosca's Restaurant. Five other very fine places are Masson's Beach House, Elmwood Plantation, Chris' Steak House, Tchoupitoulas Plantation and Commander's Palace. Each is different, but in all cases, I assure you the ride will be worth it.

As always, I've saved the best for last. My very favorite place to eat in New Orleans is a little bistro called of all things, "The Bistro." It is located in Westwego, a good thirty minutes from the Jung Hotel. Here your host is a true Frenchman by the name of André. Believe me, I've never had a bad meal there yet. All you have to do is to mention my name, and I'll practically guarantee you a winner.

Royal Street, in addition to having our general chairman's coin shop, has some forty antique shops squeezed shoulder to shoulder in a double file that runs nine blocks. Additionally, along the street are a number of shops which deal exclusively in specialties such as copper and brass. All these buildings are housed in quaint old world buildings with ironwork balconies and many have patios which are open to visitors.

O.K., so you have covered the happy hour and had a few really caloric meals. Now I guess you want to know where to go partying. If you have the ambition to walk Bourbon Street at night, I'm sure that the Strip will take care of the rest. Be sure not to miss Pat O'Brien's on St. Peter Street, as I'd feel that a part of your social life was neglected if you did not take this one in.

The Top of the Monteleone Hotel, the Blue Room of the Fairmont Roosevelt (a bit expensive, but nice), the Playboy Club, The Court of the Two Sisters, (believe me, the list could go on and on) are a few of my suggested night spots. In fact, if you try all these places in the few days you are in town, I am sure that your tailor will look at you rather knowingly and not have to be told that you had a fabulous time in gay old New Orleans.

You say that the wife likes to sightsee — boy, this is no problem at all. Your problem is what not to see. We can offer you museums, both regular department store and boutique shopping (there goes that extra three dollar gold piece) as well as the world famous Royal Street, where all those wonderful antique shops are located. The beauty of all this is that these places are all within walking distance of the Jung Hotel.

For those that prefer to ride I'll suggest, as a quaint reminder of the past, a ride on the St. Charles Avenue street car. It will, for 15c, take you through the Garden District past Audubon Park (where J. J. Audubon once painted his famous birds) and Tulane University, up to a section known as Carrollton, which in the past, was a separate city.

As long as we are riding, I have a hunch that the ladies and you fellows, as well, will want to ride on the Mark Twain for a view of the city from the river, or the Voyager for a look-see at the Bayou country where Dominic You and Jean Lafitte held their treasure chest of gold and silver coins. In fact, if you are lucky enough, you may even find a gold 8 escudos of Carolus III or a silver ½ real of Ferdinand VII while in Lafitte country. If you are that lucky, I'm sure that one of the 132 dealers on the bourse floor will be able to supply the rest of the coins to the series.

Fishermen, you can go out from New Orleans and catch the one that got away from you at home, only to find that the fish is bigger in the flesh than when you saw him in the water elsewhere. Since Sunday falls on Monday with our Cajun fishermen, I'd suggest going out on any other day, let's say Thursday, which actually falls on Thursday.

Let's continue our visit to New Orleans and nearby vicinity with a short two hour trip to the Chalmette Battlefield. This is the spot, just a few miles below New Orleans, that Andy Jackson and Jean Lafitte, the pirate, joined forces to stop the British in the battle that should have never been fought at the end of the War of 1812.

While we want you to be at many of the meetings, the auction, and of course, the bourse, if you still have a yen for sightseeing, I'd suggest a day-time walking tour of Royal Street itself. If your taste is of an historical nature, I'm certain that the Royal Street antique shops can and will provide ample material to keep you wide-eyed for quite a long time.

Being a walking tourist bureau for my city, I'll come up with a change of pace and lead you out of town to see just a wee bit of the Cajun bayou country so well known the world over. You can drop south on your same tour of Chalmette Battlefield, past Violet, Louisiana, and see places such as Point a la Hache and Shell Beach. This is about as far south as the roads go in Louisiana on the east bank of the Mississippi, so any further mileage in this direction will have to be via power boat, or possibly even a pirogue. Pirogues, for the benefit of the Yankee boys, are small one or two man flat bottom skiff-type boats that are very narrow — hardly more than 24 inches wide in the middle and tapering down to just a few inches at bow and stern. They are propelled by paddles or poles. The only thing I can guarantee is a quick bath in the water to those without good balance.

Within walking distance of convention headquarters is fabulous Bourbon Street. This view reveals entertainment spots on both sides with skyscrapers of modern, commercial New Orleans in the background.

By heading south on the west bank of the river, you will go through Port Sulphur (correctly named as the entire town is yellow from sulphur dust), Empire, and finally run out of road at Venice, Louisiana. Venice is known as "the jump" for the simple reason that you jump into a boat if you wish to continue down the river any further. I've made the trip down stream to the Gulf of Mexico many times and invariably find the view from the Head of the Passes as breathtaking a sight as one could ask for. The Mississippi River is so wide at this spot that you would think it to be a lake.

A third quick out of town trip could be towards Morgan City. On this trip you will follow, on the road for a change, the bayous you have been hearing about and see some of the most beautiful country that one could ask for.

In closing, I'd like to invite any and all questions on New Orleans be directed to me so that I can have them answered, either by one of my many fine committeemen or in The Numismatist. At any rate, Y'ALL COME TO NEW ORLEANS.

"QUALITY SALE"
AUCTION

This Mail Bid Auction offers 3068 lots, and in our opinion this sale is a must for — the Collector, the Dealer, or the Investor. The initial lot is a "Museum" item, for the collector of Massachusetts items, Colonials, or the rarest of all Americana. It "belongs" in the Smithsonian Museum and will be sold to the highest bidder. We suggest the fortunate buyer loan it to the museum. We list below the other highlights of this sale —

Half Cents and Large Cents from 1793 (5 varieties) and choice quality pieces thru 1857 — all properly attributed. Flying Eagle cents (1856). Rare Half Dimes including the rarest of all — the 1802. Top quality Dimes — Quarters — Halves and Dollars from 1796. Morgan Dollars in Proof including the rare 1921. Rare Trade Dollars — Patterns — Medals — Proof Sets — Complete sets — Tokens. Rare U. S. Currency — large and small — including a very rare $50 Gold Bank Note. U. S. Gold Dollars thru $20s. 1796 $2.50 — 1808 $2.50 — Scarce $3s. A lovely "Stella." Rare $10s from 1795. 1858 $10 and the rare $10 1920-S and 1930-S. Scarce $20s — the seldom offered 1921. Pan Pacific set complete and a round $50 in gem condition. Many rare Territorial Gold pieces — Gold Medals U. S. and foreign.

The foreign gold lists over 300 lots. An outstanding Russian group — rare ducats of the Regent Sophia — Peter I — Peter II — Catherine the Great — 12 Platinum pieces of Russia — 25 and 37 ½ Roubles. A select group of Crowns and foreign sets. Swedish Plate Money — 50 Tael Sycee. The ancients include the 12 Caesars in gold — Greek Silver. There are some interesting Chapman catalogues — Heath books — and the sale closes with the final offering from the Kann collection — large lots of unlisted material as well as rarities — Chinese gold coins and very interesting "Mint Sports," Medals, Tokens and the Kann collection of Tibetan coins.

REVOLUTIONARY WAR MILITARY PAYMENT NOTES

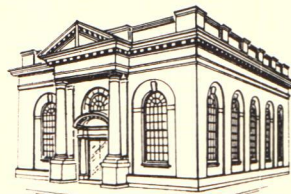

Genuine payment note issued in 1782 to a soldier for military service in the Revolutionary War. There was no hard money to pay the soldiers, so these interest bearing notes were issued, with interest payments in subsequent years recorded on the back, and finally cancelled when redeemed. We have purchased a hoard of these fascinating valuable conversation pieces. Each $15.00

They are finicky. They are stubbornly bent on getting their money's worth. They don't like excuses and won't put up with shoddy business methods. They are hard to please. And we love them and pamper them because it is thanks to their continued trust and approval that I-G-C has achieved its position of unchallenged leadership in the field of gold coins.

If YOU are hard to please and your name is not already in our files, try us with an order. Or, if you are disposing of gold, ask us for a bid. In either event, we think you will discover what so many others have found to be true:

The 1972 Coins of the Bahamas

New Design This Year

The 1972 Bahamas Proof Set will offer a new reverse design on the Five Dollar coin. This year's $5 issue bears a new Coat of Arms, beautifully symbolic of the Commonwealth of the Bahamas. This 1972 innovation makes this year's proof set a "first year of type." A significant consideration in the world of coin collecting.

Four Silver Coins

In a day and age when silver has virtually disappeared from the coinage of most nations, the Bahamas Proof Set is unique in its presentation of four silver coins. The Five and the Two Dollar coins are both Sterling Silver (.925 fine). The One Dollar piece as well as the Fifty Cent coin are minted of .800 fine Silver. In fact, the Bahamas Proof Set contains more silver than any other coinage system in the world.

Exquisite Frosted Proof

The coins in this set will be struck by one of the most respected minting institutions in the world—the Franklin Mint. To the collector this means coins with exquisite frosted relief on a mirror-finish background. This frosted proof coinage, achieved only through the most exacting minting techniques, is recognized as an achievement in fine art by coin collectors throughout the world.

The Most Beautiful Set

The 1972 Bahamas Proof Set is no doubt one of the most beautiful in the world today. The intricacy of the elaborate design on each coin gives artistic realism to the dancing flamingoes, the finely detailed conch shell, the delicate orchid. Each obverse depicts the official portrait of Queen Elizabeth II. Artistically conceived, superbly minted—this elegant proof set is indeed a hallmark of beauty and quality.

You Must Act Promptly

The order-taking deadline for the 1972 Bahamas Proof Sets is March 15, and your order must be submitted by this date. The quantity of 1972 Proof Sets issued will be exactly equal to the number ordered by that date. Each set of Proofs will be housed in a deluxe, plush-lined presentation case.

1972 Uncirculated Specimen Sets are available, without restriction, at the official original issue price of $22.75 each.

1972 Uncirculated Specimen Five Dollar pieces will also be available, at the official original issue price of $8.50 each, as long as the supply lasts.

ORDER FORM

Acceptance of orders for Proof Sets is contingent upon the mint's ability to meet the demand. In other words, should the number of orders exceed the ability of the mint to produce these coins within the required production deadline, it may be necessary to effect a reduction or cancellation, a full refund will be made on any undelivered sets.

BUREAU OF ENGRAVING AND PRINTING WASHINGTON, D.C.

Beginning in 1861, with the issuance of the first United States notes intended to circulate as money, our Nation's paper currency has been printed from plates made from steel engravings. This process, which is called intaglio, has the inherent quality of fidelity of image and a distinctive third-dimensional effect in the finished product which provide the greatest deterrence to counterfeiting.

This souvenir sheet embodies in collage form reproductions of portions of notes produced over the years which well exemplify the many facets of the engraver's art and the printer's skill for quality rendition.

COINS FOR INVESTMENT

NOT OLD!

Believe It or Not!

NOT SILVER!

We are recommending:

NOT GOLD!

The modern clad issue of U.S. Coins.

Now 15 coins in each dime and quarter clad series.
Very few clad coins were held back from circulation.
Some of the BU clad coins will prove to be surprisingly scarce.
Each series now includes 4 scarce Proof only issues.

There is only one way to obtain the very scarce "S" clad dimes and quarters and that is to break up the Proof sets. Proof sets minted each year: 1968-S only 3,041,509; 1969-S only 2,934,631; 1970-S only 2,632,810; 1971-S approx. 3,000,000.

It is estimated at this time that less than 10% of the proof sets have been broken to obtain single coins for collectors. This 10% figure would be less than 300,000 of each date available for collectors and investors.

For a comparison of mintages and value, listed are some recognized by key coins in the 10¢, 25¢, 50¢ series:

Date	Mintage	G-VG	BU
1916-D 10¢	264,000	$100.00	$675.00 per coin
1932-D 25¢	436,800	35.00	225.00 per coin
1932-S 25¢	408,300	35.00	95.00 per coin
1921 50¢	246,000	30.00	750.00 per coin
1921-D 50¢	208,300	50.00	975.00 per coin
1938-D 50¢	491,600	22.00	175.00 per coin

SPECIAL BU FRANKLIN HALVES

1958-P - 1958-D - 1959-P - 1959-D

These coins are strictly BU and a $7.25 value, but am offering them to you for $6.00. This includes all four coins. My supply is limited.

This is a break for the BUFFALO COLLECTOR. These Buffalos are properly graded and offered at an unusually low price. We have accumulated these from estates and collections over the past 3 years. Have as many as 20 of most of these dates & grades. That is 20 of each date and grade. This is a very unique opportunity on coins of this quality and are becoming very scarce in these grades and dates. Priced 30% from trend.

FRIENDS, ROMANS, COLLECTORS SELL ME YOUR COINS!

In conjunction with the expansion of our retail sales division, we are instituting a separate subsidiary which will be wholly devoted to making purchases for our various divisions.

Due to the enormous need generated by our full volume picture, we are placed in the position of having to buy at a constantly escalating rate. We pay so much more because we sell so much more! We can use a wide and varied assortment of numismatic items that most other dealers just don't have the facilities to handle. We want more than just a few choice items in your collection, we want and need everything, whether it is AG or PROOF, whether OBSOLETE or MODERN. If it's collectable, we want it! Complete collections any series, paper money and foreign coinage WANTED. Obviously it is impossible for us to list what we want, because we want almost everything and are willing to pay for it.

To those of you whose holdings are considerable, the above as well as the following should be of prime importance. As a matter of policy we maintain a cash position far and above any of our immediate or long range needs. Therefore we are in a position to handle your collection or accumulation immediately. It's always nice to know when you deal with the Old Roman Inc., you are dealing with principles only.

We now invite you to ship your coins directly to us for IMMEDIATE appraisal and disposition in the form of an airmail check to you which you may either accept or decline. Either ship your coins or write for our most generous offer.

If for any reason we can't come to terms, as always we pay return postage. If it's expeditious or advantageous to either of us, we will of course travel to negotiate the purchase and transfer of your holdings.

All matters are held in the strictest confidence.

CASH ADVANCE

THAT'S RIGHT ! ! ! ! We will advance a percentage of the fair retail value of your collection immediately upon receipt. Please send inventory first — do not send coins until you hear from us. We will then sell your collection at one of our forthcoming auction sales and you will receive your final settlement within 30 days after the sale. Our commission rates are always reasonable.

During the time that your coins are in our possession they are stored in our protected and insured vaults. When you receive your advance check, if for any reason you are not satisfied with the amount of the check, just return it and your coins will be returned postpaid.

In many cases our advance will be almost equal to others offer of outright purchase.

If you are not currently on our mailing list, just drop us a postcard with your full name and address and we will place your name on our catalogue mailing list.

REMEMBER — It is not too late to have your collection included in our next outstanding auction sale.

OUR SALES ARE USUALLY HELD IN THE PARKER HOUSE

We are always in need of desirable numismatic material and will be happy to travel anywhere in the world to acquire it — either for auction or for outright purchase provided the value of the material warrants it.

NO COLLECTION IS TOO LARGE — We will furnish bank references upon request.

THE NUMISMATIST

America's Fastest Growing
Coin Company
wants to buy from you:

RARE COINS,
COLLECTIONS, ESTATES, ACCUMULATIONS,
or any numismatic material from $100 to $100,000.

In conjunction with the fantastic growth of our national retail sales, we are placed in a position of having to buy at a constantly escalating rate. Our extremely large volume of 100% retail sales makes it possible for us to pay you absolute top dollar for your numismatic material. We have customers for your coins and will pay more to get them.

WHAT WE WANT TO BUY

We need a wide and varied assortment of numismatic items that most dealers just don't have the facilities to handle. We are not interested in "Cherry Picking" your collection, in other words we will not buy only the choice material from your collection and leave you holding the bag with what's left. We want and need everything, whether AG or proof, modern or obsolete. In short, if it's been worth your effort to save, we want it.

ADVANTAGES OF SELLING TO US

(1) You get far more for your entire collection when you sell to Riverside Coin Company. Why? We have the best possible location for retail sales; we are centrally located in heavy tourist traffic and only a stone's throw from Hemisfair Plaza, the still active site of World's Fair 1968. This means we pay more for the insignificant items that dealers cannot afford to advertise as we sell them direct to our tourist clientele. We sell the better material to eager collectors through national advertising.

(2) You get immediate cash payment in strict confidence.

(3) You get the full value from your collection when selling to Riverside. Many collectors sell unknowingly to wholesale dealers. A UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY

At this time we highly recommend the very conservative investment of these scarce rolls of semi-key Washington Quarters. Please read over the facts. Then you will agree this is an excellent opportunity. Many people lose money in coin investments for the following reasons:

- A. They purchase coins from people who have given them bad advice. Remember, any dealer or broker can recommend a roll or proof set for investment, but only a very few have the experience and foresight necessary for good solid recommendations.
- B. Many people hesitate to make an investment until the item has already moved up in price 25-50% or more. Then people want to jump on the bandwagon and start buying. This is actually the time you should be selling, not buying. Many people lose money in coins because of this reason.
- C. Another big reason for losses in the coin industry is too many people believe everything they read. A coin has to have a reason to go up in price. It's all a question of supply and demand. We can point out many investments which probably you yourself lost money on in the past year. Examples of this would be 1971S Nickels Proof, 1970 No S Proof Sets, 1970S Halves, and Athiest Cents. Sure you make money if you bought in at the ground floor. But what about the guy who bought in at the top? Chances are he will be lucky to get back his money if he waits long enough.

Remember one important factor in making an investment in coins: A coin must be generally scarce (as low in mintage) to have a great potential to move up in price.

We wish to point out the following facts on these scarce silver coins:

1. Compare the mintages to any other popular U.S. Coin to the price. Example: 1939S Quarters to 1950D Nickels — Mintage identical — Price almost 10 to 1.
2. In 1965 the U.S. government started making clad coins for circulation. Now it's difficult to find a silver coin in circulation — let alone a rare, low mintage silver coin.
3. These are now selling at the ground floor prices. We highly recommend these for a long term investment. We are not telling you these will double in price this year, but we are telling you they must make a tremendous increase in the next 5 years. Don't be left out — Buy a roll set of these today!

Average-Circulated (no culls — Good to Fine condition) Rolls of Washington Quarters

Date	Mintage	Approx. price per coin	Roll Price
1939S	2.6	.95 each	$38.00
1938S	2.7	.80 each	$32.00
1940D	2.8	.75 each	$30.00
1946S	4.6	.45 each	$18.00
1947S	5.1	.37½ each	$15.00

Lot Price — $133.00

We are offering a special — good 10 days only or until our supply lasts:

1 Roll each at only $124.50 10 Rolls each at only $1200.00

Don't hesitate — Order your roll set today — Don't wait until the price doubles or triples to buy — Then you can be selling and will be far ahead.

CHOICE B. U. ROLLS AT DISCOUNT PRICES

CENTS

There are many sleepers throughout this series. Compare today's prices with the 1964 prices and you will see an amazing difference. You can steal these scarce rolls at an average of 20% of the 1964 price. This means when we get another big coin boom these should really move up in price. We do recommend B.U. rolls of Lincolns for a long term investment.

NICKELS

This series is by far the most underpriced of all the B.U. rolls. Many sleepers are contained throughout the entire series. Many of these rolls are selling for only a fraction of the 1964 price. Watch these move when the market gets hot again this fall. We highly recommend the 1948S which sold for $140.00 in 1964 which can be

DIMES

This is another series which has taken many sharp drops in the past couple of years. Buy the rolls we recommend for a good long term buy. Remember, these are all silver coins and have much more room to move in price than the quarters and halves.
